The Morning Intelligencer

Even the candidates themselves predict that the coming campaign will be the most interesting in years and because of the fact that people in all sections of Anderson and adjoining counties are deeply interested in the approaching State Campaign, The Intelligencer has arranged at considerable additional expense, to secure a complete and comprehensive report of the campaign, day by day, as it progresses. In addition to that The Intelligencer now announces a remarkable reduction in the subscription price DURING THE CAMPAIGN ONLY. The campaign and elections will continue over approximately three months and for that length of time The Daily Intelligencer will be sent to any address for Seventy-five Cents, strictly in advance.

Financial and Commercial

New Orleans Cotton

New Orleans, June 10.—Much boll weevil talk and reports of high temperatures in the belt caused alarm, among shorts in the cotton market today and stimulated a considerable volume of fresh buying, especially after the middle of the day. The new crops displayed decided strength, rising to a net advance of 9 to 11 points in the afternoon, but the best that July did, was a gain of 2 points. This compared with a net decline of 4 to 6 points around the opening. The market closed steady at an advance of 2 to 10 points over yesterday's final figures.

Cotton futures closed steady; July 1914, August 1914, October 1914, December 1914, January 1915, March 1915, May 1915.

New York Cotton

New York, June 10.—The cotton market recovered an early decline during today's trading and closed very steady at a net advance of 2 to 10 points with buying evidently encouraged by increasing complaints of boll weevil and reports of continued dry weather and high temperatures east of the river.

The opening was steady at a decline of 3 to 6 points and active months sold about five to seven points net lower right after the call in response to easy cables and the official prediction for continued clear weather in the Western belt, where farmers are supposed to be rapidly clearing their fields of grass and weeds following the heavy May rains. Offerings, however, were by no means active or aggressive.

The detailed weather reports showing very little rain in drought sections and the general "daisy" worked about 5 to 9 points above last night's closing prices, with new crop deliveries leading the advance and the close was within a point or two of the best.

Private advices report that boll weevil are numerous in parts of Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi and apprehensions of damage from that source were expressed in several quarters around the ring.

Cotton futures closed steady.
